New City Water Tank Approved

The State Health Department has approved plans for construction of a 500,000 gallon overhead water storage tank to be built on city owned property. City Manager Tevis Huguey announced Monday.

With increasing demands on the city's water supply caused by growth of the population now estimated at 17,500 people and the construction of the Quaker Oats plant, the need for additional storage facilities has become paramount. The new tank designed by the city's consultant engineers, Russell and Axon of Daytona Beach is part of the $754,000 project to be expended on the city water system.

The tank when completed will store one million gallons at ground level and 500,000 gallons overhead storage. The city processing plant with this addition will be able to deliver some six million gallons daily.

The project to be financed by bonds will be acted on at the July 25th city commission meeting. Potter and Sheppard, a Orlando investment firm, has prepared the report for the bond issue. They have previously handled other financial issues for the city.

The new system is estimated to care for a population in the area of 24,500 people. A new water intake facility was recently placed in Lake Okechobee near Winnie's Cove.

The Quaker Oats plant is scheduled for completion in November and will be quite a addition to the local industry. This area is seeking.

New Garbage Equipment Authorized For South Bay

At the regular meeting of the South Bay City Commission last Monday night the Mayor and the City Clerk were authorized to sign a five year lease agreement of a self loading garbage truck and 20 commercial type containers.

For a total price of $28,000.00, and on paying $460.00 per month, the city will hold an option to purchase the equipment for $1,100 at the end of the lease.

Residents of the city will be mosquito free by reason of $1.00 per month being added to the water bill for the months of July and August.

The problem of vandalism at the City Water Plant was tackled by authorizing Marvin Davis to move a trailer on the property in which a tenant will live and accept the responsibility of keeping prowlers away.

Acting Police Chief Ray Pugh was authorized to continue in this position until September 1.

Locals Named To Celery Committee

Members and alternates of the 1966-1967 Florida Celery Committee were named this past week by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to serve until July 31, 1967. USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said the committee administers the marketing order regulating the handling of celery produced in Florida.

The 15 man committee is authorized to recommend and the Secretary of Agriculture to establish, the total annual marketable quantity of celery that may be handled during the season. The quantity is then translated into a market allotment for each producer.

Members and Alternates are Group 1 George Wedgworth, S. N. Knight, Sam Senter, C. D. McCure all of Belle Glade; Roy Vandergift, Sr., of Phookes. Their alternates are: Fritz Stein, R. E. Watson, Harold Rabin, E. A. McCabe, and Roy Vandergriff, Jr. Group 4 members include: Billy Rogers, South Bay and C. A. Thomas, Lake Harbor. Alternates are: Kelly Willis, and Murray O. Weeks South Bay.

$1.8 Million Expended

At a press conference and public hearing Wednesday evening Superintendent Robert Fulton released a tentative 1966-67 School Budget which will require about 11.64 mills to finance. A operational Budget amounting to $39,219,338 was proposed which is some six million over last year's budget. Construction monies under the 27 million dollar bond issue is over this figure. Non-instructional personnel on a selective basis receives raises as they have been passed over in the past.

Announcement of the new addition to the Belle Glade Junior High School amounting to some $700,000 and construction nearing completion at Lake Shore High School of $254,450 plus furnishings and other additions bringing overall expenditures to some $300,000 points out the schools contribution to local economy.

There is also an expenditure of some $60,000 for South Bay Rosenwald which includes a library and exceptional educational department. At Pahokee a new elementary school costing $700,000 is in process of construction. Overall totals of monies expended in school construction this year comes to approximately $1.8 million dollars in the Glades area.

The County School Superintendent reports that the county can anticipate an increase next year of about 3,000 additional students and even at a ratio of 30 students per classroom the county will need at least 100 new classrooms. Over the county today there, is some $10,153,824 of school construction in progress.

In addition to the expansion at Lake Shore High School additional furnishings and equipment, including expanded shower and locker rooms, guidance room, D. C. T. remodeling Industrial Arts section, agricultural shop, and other items added some $50,000 to the original amount.

In checking with the County Office The Herald was advised that there is no further new construction in design or plan for the Belle Glade area at this time. There is a final clearance certificate on Glade View and Gove Schools expansions amounting together to some $165,000.

City Business

Interferes . . .

City Manager Tevis Huguey is of the opinion that he will have to turn down the invitation of Vice-President Humphries to attend an assembly of city officials from municipalities of less than 50,000 population which has been called for July 29 and 30. The purpose of the assembly is to bring about a better understanding of federal and city governments and provide information on new government give-away programs. "Some of these programs are good," he said, "but with vacations and the budget coming up, I don't see how I can go."

Car Overturns, 2 Passengers Not Injured

No serious injuries resulted Wednesday when a 1963 Ford Falcon being driven by Miss Dinah Sides, 18, of 191 S. E. Ave. N. over turned at the corner of North Main and Northeast Avenue D.

Farmers Contributed The Least To Inflation And High Prices

American farmers have "contributed the least to causes of inflation and high prices while continuing to be a major contributor to the overall success of the American economy," Senator Karl Mundt, R-S.D. said last week.

Mundt based his statement on what he termed "farm facts" which he discussed in a letter to the Farm Bureau. He said the Johnson Administration's "attack on farm prices as being a cause of inflation and its various recommendations designed to knock down farm prices" resulted in a "strong reaction from rural America."

Out of the recent controversy, which Mundt described as "the attempt to shift from the Executive Branch to the American farmer the blame for increased living costs and inflation," the Senator believes many citizens "are more aware of the cost price squeeze dilemma which confronts agriculture."

The farmer receives 3 cents for every dollar spent for food," Mundt said, "which is 11 cents less than his share of the 1947-49 food dollar." He concluded his letter by saying: "Further acknowledgement is due the American Farmer for his record in helping national economic stability in addition to the long earned credit due American Agriculture for its magnificent contributions to adequately feed and clothe the nation with an abundance."

Head Corn Growers

The Florida Sweet Corn Exchange during an annual meeting at Belle Glade recently re-elected the same slate of officers to serve during the 1966-67 season. Nursing Home A Glades Need

There were 63 patient in nursing homes on the coast last month from the Glades area. There are many who should be in homes who are getting by in poorly equipped private homes in the low income areas of the Glades simply because they don't want to go away from home. A substantial number of people remain in hospitals at a high cost to them, their families or the county, only because a local nursing home is not available and their homes are not able to provide the limited nursing care they need.

This information was obtained last month while getting together information on medicare and the problems of sick and old people in the Glades. Further information has provided additional material for thought.

Are local communities going to abdicate and thereby speed up and enlarge the trend toward a national welfare society?

We have found nothing short of a plea from the federal government for local leadership to take over and manage local responsibility. In order to accomplish this they will make money available, at a low rate of interest, to either profit-making organizations or to local governments, to accomplish the desired end.

We have found further that there is every indication that the Glades can have not one, but two nursing homes, both of which can be expected to make a reasonable profit from existing demand and that there is every prospect for this demand to expand from at least two different sources.

A hospital or nursing home which operates for a profit is called a "proprietary" organization as opposed to public hospitals and homes depending upon contributions or taxes.

Private enterprise in California has taken the lead in both proprietary hospitals and nursing homes. There is a study of nursing homes in Wisconsin which provides information to determine the feasibility of establishing a nursing home with reasonable assurance of making a profit.

Because Belle Glade is the most logical place for a nursing home serving the Glades there is an expressed desire from Glades County and the eastern part of Hendry County to make use of such facilities if and when provided.

There are two alternatives: if we or others do not act, then we can look forward to the state or federal government providing an area "institution" and give impersonal service for a very personal need. The second alternative is to encourage a large chain organization to construct facilities here, which, from their standpoint will be for the purpose of draining profit from the community.

Shall we do nothing because of a lack of leadership, and drift, or shall we take advantage of an opportunity?

Universal Service

There is a great deal of talk today in Congress and throughout the country over the need for changing the Selective Service present method of drafting men for the armed services. The argument seems to revolve around the inequities of deferring for educational reasons students who may or may not ever serve, while the less studious or less fortunate have been the ones to go on active duty.

A committee has just been appointed by the President to investigate and make recommendations for revising the draft laws. This is fine and good if the goal of achieving equity, so that all eligible Americans can equally serve their country, is accomplished.

Few citizens object to a law or a rule if they know and feel that it is being administered fairly and that everyone is treated alike. Serving our country is a great privilege and a honor and the opportunity should be given to all of our youth to serve. If universal service for all is the answer, then let's accept this as a duty and contribution to the defense of our beloved country.

Local Selection Service Boards throughout the nation for over twenty five years have performed a tremendous service to the country in administering a difficult task of drafting our youth for the Armed Forces. Their's has been a job well done. Maybe the new laws will make their job easier.

"Who Is He?"

By Frankie Barbee In Okinawa

You sit at home and watch T. V.
You're sipping a refreshing cold iced tea.
The news comes on and then you hear,
The All-Star game is drawing near.
Then you see a far-off land
Where men are dying in the sand.
A frown appears across your face.
Who cares about that place?
Who cares about that doesn't concern me.
You'd rather hear the Beatles play
Than learn about the world today.
But stop and think for a moment or two,
And ask yourself, "Does this concern you?"
It's great to be alive and free!
But how about that guy across the sea?
He's giving up his life for me
So that I can live under liberty.
He's far away to fight a war
Instead of fighting it at my front door.
This guy who lives in filth and slime,
How can he do it all the time?
He's about my age so why should he care
About a war someone else should share.
You call him vile names and make fun of his cause.
Yet he's always the first to go and win your wars.
You lucky guy, you just laugh and sneer
Because you've never known fear.
But this brave man faces death each day.
Yet he's always got something funny to say.
"No mail again, a tongue of sorrow,
On what the hell, there's always tomorrow."
The morale is low and the tension is high.
Some men even break down and cry.
He wants to go home to see a loved one
But he won't until he gets the job done.
He works all day and stands guard all night.
He's tired and sick but he continues to fight.
The college crowd thinks that he's a fool
But that is what makes him so hard and cruel.
You don't appreciate the things he will do
Like giving up his life for you.
He sacrifices much, yet asks no return;
Just so you can stay in school and learn.
He believes in freedom and the American way of life.
He'd rather die than live a communist life.
No parties and dances for this brave young man,
Until he comes back home again.
The days are hot and the nights too.
What wonders a cold can of beer can do.
He dreams of cold beer and a thick, juicy steak.
Then someone shouts, "We're got a hill to take!"
Some will be heroes, because they are brave.
And others will just get a wreath on their grave.
You'll recognize him when he walks by.
There's a saddened look within his eyes.
He so proud, yet looks so mean.
He's called the world's greatest fighting machine!
No wonder he's proud! he's a U. S. MARINE!

JUDICIAL REFORM

"Of all people in our society, the judge must remain the most incorruptible, because he is the final protector of our rights to life, liberty and property under the law," declared California Supreme Court Justice Louis H. Burke. But, says a report from the American Assembly of Columbia University, "The administration of justice in the United States is in trouble."

Casting light on that trouble, the July, 1966, issue of The Reader's Digest states that "... in state after state there is growing alarm over judges who are sick or senile, corrupt, guilty of unconscionable gold-bricking, habitually intoxicated or otherwise unfit to serve on the bench." By far, an overwhelming majority of judges do not fit this category. The fact that a small number do, however, is disturbing.

Two states have pioneered judicial reform. The most recent is California where a Commission on Judicial Qualifications is empowered to investigate complaints from anyone about courts and recommend action to the Supreme Court which can disbar a judge. The system, which has already removed 30 judges from California courts, has been adopted by some Texas courts and is currently being considered by other states. Its application to federal courts is also being studied by Congress, since federal judgeships are lifetime appointments. There is no room for incompetency in our judicial process.

Hearing the Word

"Their sound went into all the earth, And their words unto the ends of the world."

— Psalms 19:4

Blessed with divine inspiration, the Apostles went forth into the fertile fields of disbelief to preach the word of God. Hardships, persecution, even the threat of death did not deter them from their appointed task of spreading the message of Christianity.

There was a time when even those who merely listened to the word of God placed themselves in great personal danger.

Today, in this modern world, the words of God are spoken in a more proper setting. How often do we take the time to listen? How small is that part of our lives we devote to God and to the practice of Christianity?

We should not become so occupied that we leave only a little time for hearing the word of God and serving the cause of Christianity.

Do you earn too much to afford one?

For many people the Volkswagen would be an ideal car. Except for one thing. It doesn't cost enough. They're afraid nobody will realize they have any money, if it doesn't show in their car. In other words, they buy their car for other people. Not themselves. Then there are those who earn enough to buy a much better car than the VW. But they don't. Because they can't find one. For them the best car is one that's simply comfortable and economical. One they don't have to worry about. That doesn't make many stops for gas. And rarely needs repairs. A car where the rare repairs don't cost a lot. A car where the car doesn't cost a lot. They feel they can afford to save money with a Volkswagen. Now next time you see somebody driving a VW don't feel sorry for him. Who knows? Someday the bank might use his money to give you a new car loan.

To Take A Vacation Is.

The bulletin will be sort of skimpy this week, as the Editor is enjoying a hard earned rest out of town and your last year's editor is pinch hitting for him. However, as Lion Shorty Drea says, I am seldom at a loss for words, so I'll try to live up to being a Good Lyin' Lion. This is the season when all good Lions take their vacations. To take a vacation is described in Webster's as follows: Respite or time of respite; Respite mission or rest. A period of rest and recreation; a holiday. The word evolves from the Latin word 'Vacare' meaning to be empty. And that's an apt description of the purses of vacationers upon return to their labors. It also might be construed to describe the state of one's head before, during, but not after, for one must be empty headed to spend days thrashing the placid surface of some lake, river or other body of water in a vain attempt to lure some dopey fish to stop sulking at the bottom and bite your $2.50 extra-special, super-duper, guaranteed fish-getter lure (I speak from experience here. Three rather expensive lures which used to be in my tackle box now rest somewhere in the hinterlands of Lake Istokpoga where they ended their flashy careers. A further example of empty-headedness is lying in the baking sun of summer, alternately roasting either side, front or back, while basting oneself with oils, lotions, vinegars, etc., until one feels like a tossed salad; then jumping into the water and exhausting oneself trying to be a terrestrial aquatic animal. The only way to spend a vacation sensibly is to go somewhere where, under the shade of a palm tree, beach umbrella or other sunshade, and engage in that very evocative, but usually non-productive game of watching the girls who wear the very least possible covering, thus exposing all the artifices of their figures to the jaundiced eye. When one sees the exhibitions of fleshly parts of some of our fair sex, one feels like raising a paean of glory to the courtesies who dignify those bodies in silks and satins to the end that what you see you see you don't really see. It's all in the imagination. A visit to the zoo to watch the lion motions of tigers or anacondas is more edifying.

The flag can be displayed whenever the weather permits, regardless of the date.

Egypt

Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth and Mrs. Edith Freedlund were touring the Mediterranean countries, including The Holy Land, and the following is a letter from Mrs. Freedlund concerning the trip.

Cairo, Egypt, United Arab Republic, Nile Hilton Hotel. This is a huge modern hotel with 400 air-conditioned rooms, each with a terrace, and it overlooks the Nile river. There is a swimming pool, beauty parlor, and many gift shops. Our first morning we could look across the Nile and see the pyramids in the distance. Closer by were workmen in long white garments at the edge of the river repairing the bank of the river. Cairo has a population of four million, and it has 1,000 Mosques. Moslems go to church on Friday at 11:30, and there is a Quater which talks until the Koran is read, then

12 New School Busses Requested For Glades

Nineteen school busses of the Palm Beach County School system, traveled 250, 506 miles on routes between Hensley and Martin Counties, during the recently ended 1965-66 school year, 18 new busses to replace old is announced by County Supt. Robert W. Fulton.

During the 180 days of the school year they aggregated a total of 386,460 student passengers in daily attendance at the 16 Glades schools.

The cost per head for transporting children to the school this year, has yet to be computed, it was stated, but during the 1964-65 the sermon. There are four Sects: Shafie, Moleh, Abu Havela, and Hombie. The most famous in the Alabaster Mosque built in 1820 by Mohamed Ali. It has four domes and seven half domes. It has translucent alabaster walls and 1,500 electric light candles which form a huge circular ring suspended from the ceiling. Women are not allowed downstairs, but pray in the balcony.

Sunday morning we walked many blocks over filthy sidewalks and a few sleeping people to St. Andrew's United Church - Presbyterian. The sermon was given by Dr. Thornton B. Penfield, a dignified Englishman. In the social hour which followed, we met the McGills, who have been Presbyterian missionaries in Egypt for twenty years. Mr. McGill has charge of the Presbyterian Hospital. When Nassar came into power he wanted to get rid of all missionaries, but did not succeed. Nassar owns everything in Egypt, it seems. Mrs. McGill's gardener told her one day, "I must go now and vote yes."

We flew south along the Nile to Luxor. There is only a narrow strip of cultivated land along the river, the rest as far as you can see is desert. As we were driving in a bus from the Airport to our hotel, we saw camels and donkeys with huge loads on their backs. The wheat had just been harvested, and a camel was treading the wheat, and a man had a pitchfork throwing the straw up in the air. One of the women turned to her companion and said, "Look, they are winning the wheat — Ruth and Naomi!" Her companion replied, "You are mistaken, it is Ruth and Edith." We learned of this conversation a few days later. We had joined the Brownell Tour only two days before, and no one knew the names of all the members yet. We were taken up the river in a Felucca for a sail before supper. It seemed like a clumsy boat to me. Luxor in 1883 BC was a city of a million people, and was the capital of Egypt for 500 years. Now it is a small town. It is situated on the east side of the Nile. The west side is where the valley of the Kings, and the valley of the Queens are, and we visited King Tut's Tomb the next morning. We traveled over desert land, and finally came to the opening where we had to climb down many steps. The sides of the walls were decorated with figures and the room where the tomb was found was also covered with decorations. The light for this work was done by the reflection from the sun on metal mirrors — no artificial light was used. When a person becomes king, the work on his tomb starts and continues as long as he lives. King Tut was only 18 years old when he died. Other tombs were built on top of his, so it was not discovered until recently. Our guide told us that the poor people were wrapped in cloth and put in caves with rocks at the entrance so the jackals would not eat the mummies. The tombs were used by the Christians when they hid from the Romans. A king must marry his sister, and only children by this union can rule the country.

In the afternoon we rode in fringed carriages lined with bright cretonne to the Temple of Karnak, the largest temple in Egypt. There is a huge Pylon, or arch at the entrance to the Karnak Temple with inscribed scenes from the lives and deeds of Egyptian Kings. The temple grounds cover ninety acres. This was put together with dry brick and mortar used. There are 134 columns, twelve of these are 65 feet high, the highest columns in the world. These are oblique and weigh 450 tons. There are one thousand sphinx between Luxor and the Temple of Luxor. The earthquake in 25 BC destroyed many of the buildings, and buried most of the sphinx. They are still excavating. Back in Cairo in the Museum we saw the treasures that were buried with King Tut. There were eight tombs in all, some of alabaster, silver covered with jewels, and one of 249 pounds of pure gold. He had 365 small statues buried with him as a servant for every day of the year!

the year! On the tombs were many carvings of cobras for protection. We saw chess sets, alabaster statues 5000 years old, and many precious stones and jewelry. We visited a Coptic church, the oldest in Egypt, where the Holy Family hid in a cave underneath the floor. There are 18 synagogues in Cairo. The Ben Ezra Synagogue has beautiful Arabic windows of colored stones. The Book of Esther, written 22 BC, is on a leather scroll, and the guide had us touch it for luck.

We took a trip across the Nile to visit the pyramids. The largest, Kheops, is 5,000 years old, 455 feet tall, and is built on 13 acres of land. One hundred thousand people worked on the pyramids. Two thousand worked at one time, and changed every three months. Some of the stone pieces weighed 2 1/2 tons. There are 2,300,000 pieces of limestone in this pyramid. They were brought here on barges, then rolled on wooden rollers. Fifteen of us got on camels and rode up the hill to the pyramids. Getting on a camel is quite a feat. My camel was named "whisker" and the one back of me was named "rose." My driver sang, "The Campbell's (camel) are coming." Egypt now has 30 million people who live in an area the size Maryland. When the Awam Dam, which is being built 100 miles south of Luxor, is finished it will open up two million more acres and add 500 million dollars every year to Egypt's economy.

Our guide throughout our stay in Cairo was Fergan, a Bedouin or Khome, dressed in a loose flowing gown and a turban. He was a very distinguished looking man with graying hair and piercing eyes. He prays five times a day, repeating each of the following thirty times: 1. No God but Allah. 2. Thanks to Allah. 3. Allah is greater. He told us that his grandfather was born and died in a tent. He told in glowing terms how generous and friendly the Bedouins were, and all guests were welcome. They led a free and easy life until 1947, when Military Service, Schools and Income Tax became compulsory. He now lives in an apartment with TV, washing machine etc. He has one son who is a doctor, and another who is an architect. He told us, "God made time, man made hurry."

July 22-23 First Summer Play At PB Junior College

Cast and play have been selected for the first summer drama ever produced at Palm Beach Junior College, according to Josh Crane, director of Forensics, who will direct the production.

The play will be "A Thaurer Carnival," a collection of favorite stories and sketches by the Amnic master of irony and satire, James Thurber. It will be presented July 22 and 23 at the college auditorium at 8:14 p. m., and will be open to the public without admission charge.

Cast in the production are Roberta Reusch, Burt Merriam, Georgia Beebe and Geoffrey Burdick of West Palm Beach, John A. Murphy of Lake Worth, Anita Sands of Delray Beach and Janet Findling of Atlantis.

The play will be presented in the form of a Chamber Theatre production, in which some of the scenes are read, some pantomimed, and some acted out. The setting consists of a series of cantilevered platforms and two four-panel units that revolve to form different backdrops for each scene.

Each member of the cast plays a variety of roles, requiring completely different characterizations, mostly by voice and facial expression.

The production is sponsored by Phi Rho Pi Honorary Speech Fraternity and the College Forensic Association. There will be no reserve seats.

Legendary Lake

For centuries following early explorations of Florida, Lake Okechobee, located in the southern part of the peninsula state, remained legendary to the white man. First reports in 1545 by a Spanish prisoner of the Caloosa Indians, of the immense body of fresh water held little interest for later gold seekers. It was eventually rediscovered when U. S. soldiers of the Florida Indian War battled the Seminole to its shores.

Glades Family Visit Jungle Gardens

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Duran and family of 533 S. E. Ave. E., and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Black and family, 618 S. E. 6th St., both of Belle Glade, recently enjoyed a visit to Sarasota Jungle Gardens while vacationing on Florida's Lower West Coast. Here the visitors mingled with flamingos and other rare and unusual wild fowl from every continent, which roam freely in these world-famous Gardens. Also of interest in Sarasota Jungle Gardens are thousands of tropical plants, many of which are beautifully colored, huge Royal Palms bordering dense jungle trails, and brilliantly colored macaws and cockatoos which pose with visitors for pictures.

Sailing Permits Required For Departing Aliens

Before leaving the United States, aliens must secure certificates of compliance from the Internal Revenue Service, commonly known as "Sailing Permits."

Departing aliens should apply for tax clearance at least two weeks before the date of their departure, says F. S. Schmidt, District Director of Internal Revenue for Florida.

He said they should appear in person at their local Internal Revenue office with copies of Federal Income Tax returns for 1964 and 1965, as well as a statement of income and expenses for 1966. They should also bring passport and re-entry permits.

There is normally no long wait if the alien has all the required information, Mr. Schmidt said.

The Internal Revenue office in this area is located at 421 Iris St.

WE WANT TO BE WASHED ELECTRICALLY

There's no nonsense with an electric dishwasher. No pre-rinsing, no soaking, no drying, no drudgery... less breakage too. And no dishpan hands. Modern electric dishwashers save 90 minutes a day — and they safeguard family health by sanitizing with water that's hotter than hands can stand. Don't you think you'd be better off today with happy dishes washed the electric way?

William T. Grant At Age 90 Retires

As Chairman Of The Board

Story in Lynn, Massachusetts, on a stormy December 6, 1906. Despite the weather, the opening was a great success, with sales amounting to $1,500, part of which he hid in the store's coal bin that night because the store did not have a safe.

First year sales came to $99,000, on which the company earned a $10,000 profit despite the fact that a serious depression gripped the nation. As he explained to a banker friend years later, "I was too busy working hard to make my first store succeed to realize that business conditions were so bad."

For many years, Mr. Grant worked 15 to 18 hours a day as his company grew at a fast pace. By 1915, when his company boasted 23 stores and just over $3,000,000 in annual sales, Mr. Grant bought out an original partner and assumed presidency of the company.

Mr. Grant's retirement was announced by the Board of Directors, at its regular meeting in New York reluctantly accepted his resignation and promptly voted him Honorary Chairman of the Board.

Edward Stanley, who was Vice Chairman succeeds Mr. Grant as Chairman. On his 90th birthday, celebrated at his home in Greenwich, Connecticut on Monday, June 27th, William Thomas Grant, founder and Chairman of the Board of W. T. Grant Company announced his decision to retire as Chairman and Director of the 1,097-store general merchandise chain which bears his name.

State-wide, during 1965, there was a total of 30,080 deaths from all causes. Of this total more than 17 percent, or 10,552 Floridians died from some form of cancer.

Each teacher realizes that first and foremost the most important factor in working with a young child is her own warmth, acceptance, and friendliness toward him. In an atmosphere of happiness and trust the child forms a picture of himself as an individual of worth and he is free to respond and grow through many experiences that are new to him.

Young children will insist on doing activities over and over again until they are satisfied in one area and then they are willing to move on to new experiences. Johnny runs eagerly into his room in the Belle Glade Center each morning and insists on hearing the recording of Peter Pan first. He listens intently, saying the words, singing and dramatizing along with the record. After that he will play a matching game, solve a puzzle or build with the blocks.

since 1928. The Grant Company record started in 1907. Grant sales in 1965 exceed $300,000,000 with net earnings in excess of $31,000,000.

Local Historians Locate Old Seminole War Fort Sites

By Lawrence E. Will
A party of amateur historians set out on June 19th to visit the site of Ft. Van Swearingen, a stockade fort of the Seminole War, which existed briefly in 1835, some six miles east of Lake Okechobee. This fort had been established on a new trail from Ft. Basseger on the Kissimmee River, to Ft. Drum and on to Ft. Jupiter on the coast. This road was opened by General Jesup just before the battle of Okechobee was fought on Christmas day in 1837. It was later used by hunters, Indians, cow men and settlers. At one time a telegraph line had been strung along this trail, from which it got the name of "the old wire road." The fort was named for Captain Joseph Van Swearingen who was killed in the battle on the lake, which took place only seven or eight miles from here.

Our party consisted of Albert DeVane of Lake Placid and his brother Park DeVane of Sebring, both of whom have located the sites of many forts of the Seminole War. Albert is also an authority on the Seminoles, past and present, while Park has located many old roads in this part of the state. We also had Mr. "Spence" Buckner, owner of the Red Top Dairy at the site of the once great Sherman lumber mill, with his brother-in-law, Charles Williams of Avon Park.

Our guide was Alvah Anderson, an old timer who has lived for many years at the old catfishing settlement of Uptegrove Beach, where Road 15A turns east from 441. He took us to an abandoned turpentine camp on Hendry Creek. Here there was a peculiar ridge which he declared had been an earthworks thrown up by soldiers. However, Park DeVane insisted that this was far from being the old fort site. We then drove to Highway 70, the Ft. Pierce road. Twelve miles from Okechobee City we turned right on Bluefield Road for 1.3 miles to the headquarters of Bluefield Ranch. Here we were joined by the general manager of this ranch, the rotted ends of logs, which may have been part of the corduroy which Adams mentioned. The site of the fort is in an open area of scattering pine. The once dense growth of palmettos has recently been uprooted in preparation for planting grass.

Mr. Christopher was much interested in finding the location on his ranch, and plans to have a suitable marker erected to mark this historic spot.

The writer had previously accompanied the DeVane brothers in locating other fort sites in this area. One had been Ft. Denaud, west of LaBelle. It had been on the north bank of the Caloosahatchee River, near the old bridge. Since the recent widening of the river, this spot is now far out in the river about at the present draw bridge. During the Seminole War, due to an epidemic of typhoid fever at this fort, the army surgeon had ordered all the soldiers' clothing to be destroyed. Park DeVane had discovered many brass uniform buttons where these uniforms had been burned. He said he had collected 144 buttons found at various sites of old forts.

St. Thompson, two miles up river from LaBelle, enclosing the same site as Ft. Denaud. Although the stumps of the heart pine palisades still remained, this site was destroyed also in the widening of the river.

Ft. Center was located on Fishing Creek near the Indian mound. Another temporary fort also was located on this creek a few miles west of the picnic grounds known as Paradise Park. We also searched for some old copper bolts used by the soldiers and rumored to be sunk somewhere in this creek, but not knowing the location, we had no luck.

The only fort of the Seminole war which was on the shore of Lake Okechobee had been Ft. McRae, where the St. Lucie Canal now joins the lake. Many guns, bayonets and other items were discovered here in the lake when this canal was being dug. They had been lost by the capsizing of a boat, part of an Indian hunting expedition under Lt. George Henry Probert, later a rear admiral. This was in 1842 as the boat was being launched during a storm from the then abandoned Ft. McRae.

Nothing now remains to show where any of these old forts once stood. It is hoped that while these sites are still known, some permanent markers should be erected to record this colorful period of our early history.

Ann Tyler Displays Portrait Of The Late Henry O. Earwood

At Fort Bragg
FORT BRAGG, N. C. (AHTING) Army Cadet William K. Swayne, a student at Stetson University in DeLand, Fla., is at Fort Bragg, N. C., undergoing six weeks of summer training with his school's Reserve Officer Training Corps unit.

He is receiving instruction in military skills which will qualify him for acceptance as a commissioned officer in the Army Reserves upon graduation from school.

His training includes weapons handling, leadership, small unit tactics and counter guerrilla warfare. Instruction in logistics, exercise of command and Army administrative procedures are also part of the program.

The summer encampment is scheduled to end Aug. 5. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Swayne, live at 105 W. Del Monte Ave., Clewiston, Fla.

Following in the footsteps of her father, Brooks Spann, Ann selected accounting and has worked in that field during the past 9 years, scheduling her work to coincide with her home duties. She is the wife of James Tyler and the couple are parents of two sons.

Just last year she returned to art for her first experience with oil painting, enrolling in night Adult Education night classes taught by Mrs. Earwood.

South American Peacock Bass May Be Stocked In Everglades

Stocking of South American peacock bass, a fighting fish considered a "false eye" on the tail. Fish biologists have made trips to Peru and Venezuela to study the bass and obtain stock for the Florida experiment.

Moulting ducks, in danger of drowning from water pumped to flood fields in the Glades agricultural area will be aided by the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and volunteer sportsmen, it was decided at the meeting.

Fritz Stein, a committee member, reported that the ducks are to be flown to 24, 1966, dealing in Gro and could be drowned when farmers flood fields to kill tort pests. Lou Galney, also Miners, Leroy Miners, Sr., a committee member, and all Pahokee, Fla., filed by Ralph O. Johnson, 172 Bannister's Everglades region, agreed to conduct the duck-saving project.

The golden gamfish, which weighs up to 20 lbs. in its native habitat of the Amazon and Orinoco Basins in northern South America, has been the subject of a three-year experiment in Southeast Florida under controlled conditions.

But the committee resolution, which recommends stocking of the bass in FCD Conservation Area 2-B west of Fort Lauderdale, would introduce the gamfish to the Everglades area. The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has high hopes that the fish will thrive in canals and waterways now low in Florida fish population.

Auto License Tags May Be Deductible On Income Tax

State Rep. L. A. "Skip" Bafalis has been appointed a member of a special committee to study motor vehicle license fees. The appointment was made by House Speaker E. C. Rowell.

The bill creating the committee was introduced by Rep. Bafalis during the 1965 session of the legislature. Its purpose is to determine a means of making auto license tags tax deductible on personal federal income tax returns.

At the present time the cost of auto license tags is deductible from federal income tax in eleven states. Bafalis said if tags could be deducted it would mean a tax savings of approximately $6 million a year for Florida motorists and these funds, he said, could be put back into the Florida economy.

He said the Internal Revenue Service at the present is being discriminatory in giving residents of some states a tax break and Competition For Labor From Citrus?

Further complicating an already tight and serious labor market increased citrus plantings surrounding the Glades area is rapidly becoming evident.

In Palm Beach County alone over 12,500 acres of citrus have been planted with 9,500 acres less than four years old according to a report of the county agents office. Of the above acreage some 2,000 acres are in lemons.

Studies show that in the past two years some 170,000 acres of citrus have been planted in Palm Beach, Martin, St. Lucie and Hendry Counties. The bulk of these groves will be producing in two years and within five years need for harvesters will be critical unless consideration to housing is coordinated. Further complicating the problem are plans for an additional 100,000 acres being planted in the next two to three years in this same area.

Vegetable and sugar cane interests in the Glades do not have to look very far to the east, north or west to see the growing acreage and the threat to the present labor forces. For the most part these new plantings are not near any cities and require transporting the workers great distances.

Where else will these workers be recruited but in areas close to the groves as possible and where housing is presently available?

The heart of the problem becomes apparent. There appears to be a change from the old pattern of recruitment of single male workers and the necessity for development of family type housing. The reason of course why family type housing has not been stressed in the past is a problem of economics. Single workers housed largely in dormitories can be done a great deal cheaper.

It appears this areas citrus industry is faced with the creation of new communities based on family type housing in order to bring about a more stable labor force. Presently single male workers become dissatisfied with a six to eight month season away from families so the answer if it can be accomplished is to provide family housing.

This will not be easy to accomplish as housing for a single male worker can be provided for $300 to $500 per worker capital investment while a family type unit would require from $4,000 to $5,000 and would not necessarily provide the additional man-hours of work.

Besides the cost there are other problems. Granting that family type dwellings will provide a more stable work force, where do you find these families and how hard will it be to recruit them? Family type housing also require many additional services usually found near larger communities.

Whether the anticipated returns of the citrus industry would support such a mammoth program is highly doubtful. In any isolated community the need for schools, paved roads, utilities, fire and police protection as well as many other required type family services.

These problems raise the question as to whether the city of Belle Glade or other Glades communities meet the housing challenge by more family type dwelling. It will be interesting to see how this great industry meets this problem.

Streams Of Florida

Information Available

The Divisions of Water Resources, Florida Board of Conservation, announces release of its latest publication — "Gazetteer of Florida Streams."

This publication contains valuable information on the streams of Florida. The "Gazetteer" lists 1711 streams and is composed of three parts. Part I is an alphabetical list of all the streams. Part II lists the streams alphabetically in their respective basins (i. e. Northwest Florida, Suwannee St. Marys, St. Johns, Southwest Florida, Lake Okechobee-Everglades). The appendix, which contains a numerical index to published topographic maps of Florida, makes up Part III. The data for the streams are supplied in Part II. They include the name of the stream, length of the stream in miles, source (headwater) elevation, mouth elevation, average fall of the stream, the drainage area (where known), body of water into which the stream flows, the location of the mouth by county and topographic quadrangle, and in some cases there are explanatory remarks.

This publication is available from the Division of Water Resources for $1.00.

Visitors To Florida's Parks Increase 25%

About two million visitors shared the history and natural wonders within Florida's national park and historic areas last year, a 25 per cent gain over 1964, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported in its Weekly Business Review released yesterday.

"This unusually large increase in the number of visitors to the areas administered by the National Park Service is a fine tribute to the 50th anniversary of the service and to the 'See USA Program,'" the State Chamber said.

"Everglades National Park, the nation's only sub-tropical park and the only national park in Florida, had 917,000 visitors last year, a 23 per cent gain over 1964. Over-night stays by visitors in the park came to 192,000 up 12 per cent.

"Castillo de San Marcos at St. Augustine, the oldest masonry structure in the nation, had 469,900 visitors, up 46 per cent. Fort Matanzas and Spanish fort, near Marineland, drew 135,800 visitors a gain of 32 per cent.

"Fort Caroline near Jacksonville had 94,900 visitors, a slight drop from the previous year when the replica of the fort was first opened. The DeSoto Memorial at Bradenton counted 91,200 visitors, up 17 per cent. The number of visitors to Fort Jefferson, on Dry Tortugas Island off Key West, fluctuates highly because of its remote location but last year 32,200 made the trip to the island."

Farm Users

Farmers are good customers of the petroleum industry. They spend about $1.6 billion for gasoline and other oil products in the farm business and $330 million for fuel used in personal automobiles.

It was reported that Floridians paid more than $1.6 billion for gasoline and other oil products in 1965 than in 1964. This amount covers the grand total of all taxes paid by Floridians to all levels of Government, including so-called hidden taxes in the cost of goods purchased in Florida but made outside the state.

State taxes amounted to $830,395,000, up 7 per cent. County taxes came to $498,603,000 a gain of twenty percent. Municipal taxes, plus district collections, together came to $488 million, likewise up 20 percent.

Total personal income of Floridians rose at the same rate as the tax gain but total income is not a realistic measure because part of its gain results from normal population growth. Per capita income, a truer gauge of the state's economy, stepped up 5%, a good gain in itself but below the 8 percent increase in taxes.

The continuing inflationary trend no doubt will reflect further increases in 1966. The announcement by the Comptroller's office that the 100% evaluation of ad valorem property will be enforced by September and the appointment of a Super State assessment Board to accomplish this means the taxpayer can expect no relief in the foreseeable future.

Veterans, Know Your Benefits

M. T. Dixon, of the Fla. Dept. of Veterans Affairs, called to the attention of all veterans today a little known benefit to which they may be entitled at the time they are eligible for their social security. In general, veterans with 90 days of active service between Sept. 16, 1940 and Dec. 31, 1956, and whose discharge was other than dishonorable, may receive gratuitous social security wage credits of $160 for each month of this duty. Veterans with less than 90 days of service may receive credits, if they were discharged because of disabilities or injuries incurred or aggravated in service in line of duty.

These credits are not actually listed on the social security earning record until the veteran applies for benefits. At that time, proof of the veteran's military service will be required.

For further information on this or any of your other veterans' affairs, contact your local Veterans County Service Officer.

High School Diploma Tests

Adults interested in obtaining a Florida State High School equivalency Diploma by taking equivalency tests are advised that July 14 through 21 is the last week to apply for the next series of tests to be given August 1-4.

The tests are offered to residents of Florida 20 years of age or older, who for one reason or another, have not had the opportunity to complete the formal requirements for a high school diploma. According to Paul L. Phillips, Director of Adult Education, such persons, through reading, travel, self-directed study, and the practical experience of life, have often reached a level of educational competence equivalent to that attained by the average high school graduate. One hundred eighty Palm Beach County residents obtained their diplomas during the past year by taking Equivalency Tests.

The tests consist of five parts covering correctness and effectiveness of expression, social studies, natural science, interpretation of literary materials, and general mathematical ability. American History and Government Tests are also required for those without High School credit in those subjects. A High School Equivalency Diploma will be issued by the State of Florida upon successful completion of the five standardized tests.

Each means of this diploma, educational qualified adults may obtain recognition of their educational status in order to meet the increasing demands for a high school education as a requirement for employment, promotion, vocational training, and college.

Information about the tests may be obtained from the Adult Education Office, 721 Gardenia Street, West Palm Beach.

Kathy, as she was called, was born and raised in Belle Glade and attended elementary and high school here, where she was a member of the Future Homemakers of America Club and the Future Nurses Club. She was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Richard and one daughter, Angela Leigh both of Gibbstown; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Clarke, Belle Glade; one brother, Lester Clarke, Jr., Belle Glade; two sisters, Miss Lesa Clarke also of Belle Glade and Mrs. Susan Littlefield of Columbus, Miss.; and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lane long time residents of Belle Glade.

Funeral services were conducted last Saturday at 2 p. m. at the First Baptist Church, Belle Glade with the Rev. U. M. McEldan, pastor and the Rev. C. H. Eiland, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Interment was in Port Mayaca Cemetery. Pallbearers were W. J. Morris, Don Asper, W. T. Forsee, Jr., Bill Rhodes, John Schlechter and Bill Evans.

Perhaps Johnny can't read because his grandmother was left-handed. Or because his uncle wasn't quick at determining which direction was east or west.

Science now knows that children with severe reading difficulty frequently come from families with histories of left-handedness or of undeveloped sense of direction.

According to John Spagnoli, reading coordinator of the Palm Beach County Board of Public Instruction, a child must learn his own body image early in infancy. He must soon be able to know the difference in the "direction" of his left arm from his right arm, and also between what lies to the left of him or to the right, or up or down.

If he doesn't he may have trouble later on in learning to read from left to right or in distinguishing between p and d.

A summer reading institute for 36 Palm Beach County teachers picked from 120 applicants is under way at Florida Atlantic University to train teachers to tackle such problems.

For five days a week, 8 hours a day, the teachers are learning from three experts and testing their knowledge with 84 children from seven to 14 years of age with reading difficulties.

The children get help and give the teachers practical experience.

Spagnoli heads the institute. His staff includes Mrs. Maxine Morris, reading clinician, and Roger Sinigoi, demonstration reading teacher both with the Dade County System. Mrs. Morris expects to join the faculty of Emory University in September.

The reason some children fail to develop reading skills at the usual time are varied, according to Spagnoli.

"Possible causes range from brain damage at birth — so minimal as to almost go undetected — glaucoma, imbalance, or social or environmental reasons," he says.

Such children are not necessarily unteachable, he emphasized.

Commonest illustration of a deficiency in "laterality" — a sense of direction — is reversal of words or letters like saw and was, on and no, felt and left.

"The child isn't sure of which direction to use in attacking the word," he said.

First step the teacher takes is diagnosis. This involves interviewing the parents, then a battery of tests — intelligence, vision, directionality. Once the diagnosis is complete, various remedies may be used, all with 84 children from seven to 14 years of age with reading difficulties.

One example of methods used is the YAKT approach — visual-auditory-kinesthetic-tactile. This involves all of the senses and presents a word or letter to a child through each of the known avenues to the brain.

The letter J, for instance, would be cut out of sandpaper for the child to touch. In feeling it he is encouraged to move his arms freely and in a wide arc, thus using his muscles as much as possible — the kinesthetic aspect. Simultaneously the teacher speaks the letter, completing a four-way assist to the slow learner.

Spagnoli says an increasing percentage of children are being helped by the process of diagnosis and treatment of causes, to unlock the multiple problems that lie at the root of reading difficulties.

Mystery Of Missing 'Wedgie'

The saving "Carrying Coals to Newcastle" was forcibly brought home to Detective Frank Pogelman of the Belle Glade police force with the disappearance of a "wedgie" from a new set of golf clubs.

While playing a round of golf recently with Deputy Chief D. Bill Mathis at the local course, Pogelman discovered the club missing from his bag. Retracing their steps to the point of last play, the pair were unable to locate the club.

It couldn't have happened to a guy better qualified to unravel the mystery.

Happy Days

Motorists in the Belle Glade-Pahokee area received a early Christmas gift with the start this week of resurfacing of State Road 15 from north of the Hillsboro Canal some 14 miles.

Representatives of the Weekley Asphalt Paving Co. of Hallandale low bidder June 3rd were on the job this week placing construction warning signs along the route.

County Commissioner Weaver said the work of resurfacing should be completed prior to the fall harvest season beginning. The resurfacing will extend to the intersection of Highway 88 and State Road 700.

The project will cost in the neighborhood of $214,402. Other area projects include repaving Highway 27 from South Bay to the Broward County line and installation of guard rails along State Road 80 from Belle Glade to South Bay.

A program of improving State Road 80 southwest from Avenue E is authorized.

State Road 15, Highway 441 north to Pahokee is one of the best examples of how rapid a Glades road can break up. Christmas came early folks.

Car Overtakes

14, of the same address was attempting to make a right turn from North Main to Northeast Avenue D when a dog ran in front of the car. In an effort to avoid hitting the dog, she swerved to the left hitting the shoulder of the road. "As no real shoulder exists there the investigating officer Patrolman Robert Butler said, 'the car wheel left the shoulder causing the car to overturn.'"

Both girls were taken to Glades General Hospital for examination, treated for slight scratches and abrasions and released.

Next week's program will be given by Sgt. Joseph Car del of Belle Glade Police Department, Criminal Identification Section Head. He will present an illustrated talk on methods and procedures of identification.
